AFI Sunday Evening Lectures

Sunday 1st August

"Forget the future and the past and be here now"

The astrological birth chart is a unique picture of our character and predispositions. It is useful for discerning our destiny, future possibilities, health, patterns of behaviour, relationship and career potentials and so on; however it does not, in itself, answer the ultimate question that is in each and every one of us, "who am I?" Does astrology touch on who we really are? My experience is that who I really am, deep within, is totally free of astrological influence, even as I observe astrological energies accurately describing my character traits and circumstances. Astrology works; however the part that it works on isn't me, which is the pure awareness that is observing everything that happens, has happened and will happen.
