About Jon Sandifer ~

Having travelled alone from the age of 17 to 23 through some 52 countries including Europe, the Middle East, the Far East, Australia and Africa, I finally settled in the UK and began to study macrobiotics, yin and yang and shiatsu massage. The first time I met Michio Kushi in 1977 he gave a lecture on 9 Star Astrology. I found it fascinating and used it to study retrospectively friendships, relationships and phases of time in my life thus far when I had been successful or not. The directionology aspect proved again fascinating as certain journeys I had experienced had proved easy while others not.

I Ching Astrology has helped me as a Feng Shui practitioner to have a very clear understanding of who the client is prior to even meeting them. It has helped me realize that we can connect with anyone provided we understand who they are and more importantly where they are at any given time.

Feng Shui, for me, is the skill of 'being in the right place in the right time'.

I have worked with members of large corporate teams who have been amazed by my insights regarding their profiles. I've been approached by dating companies, HR departments and several celebrities regarding insights from this very old yet profoundly simple approach in timing.
